AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT. GROVER'S 'I HEATER, - " Fidelio, ' hoven's only opera, will be performed here tonight, Madame Johannsen baving selected it for her benefit night. The same cast, embracing Hermanns, Himmer, Hableman, Steinecke Graffo, and the beneficiare, which secured the highest laudations in northern cities while performing in this opera, will appear here to night. FORD'S THEATER .- "The Comedy of Errors' has been performed for two nights at Ford's, and to crowded houses; and all who have witnessed the performance pronounce it one of the most entertaining that has taken place here in the comedy line in a long while. Clarke is splendid and creates shouts of laughter. A petite comedy will also be performed.

The Ladies of the Methodist Protestant Church, Ninth street at Union League Rooms, are holding a very successful Festival. Last evening there was a large number of ladies and gentlemen present and besides the many good things the palate dispensed, a fine little speech was made by little Miss Lazenby, (6 years old) known as the "Child Orator." She will speak again to-night. Those who would spend a pleasant evening, and get the worth of their money, should not fail to attend and besides they will thereby aid a good cause.

THE PEACE DEMOCRACY IN COUNCIL - Senator Saulsbury the Big Dog of the Democratic Tanyard-Senator Saulsbury tells how he used to pray, a long time ago-Senator Saulsbury used to sing psalms a long time ago-" Twas midnight on Judea's Plain," a favorite hymn of Saulsbury's when he was a babe-He still loves it-The manly gin-cock-tail may supplant the maternal milk, but ever will he cling to that hymn, the burden of which is PEACE-Mr. Thos. B. Florence takes the stand-The Democracy have "a project in view"-He unfolds the project A pathfinder cat under the meal-Mr. Thomas B. Florence of the Peace Democracy, warmly en-dorses John C. Fremont-John C. Fremont a "powerful champion" and "a shining light" in the opinion of Mr. T. B. Florence of the Peace Democracy-The Peace Democracy in council assembled greet the name of John C. Fremont with "vociferous applause"—A Queer Affair altogether.

An adjourned meeting of the "National Democratic Association" was held last night in Parker's Hall, and was called to order a little after eight o'clock by the president, Chas. Mason, ex-Commissioner of Patents. In the absence of the regular secretaries, Mr. Wm. Flynn was requested to act as secretary pro

At the opening of the meeting there were about seventy hve persons present, but the number was subsequently swelled to nearly 200. Some 75 new members signed the consti tution, among whom were Thomas Thornley. John J. Mulloy, Wm. M. Morgan, Randolph Coyle, John D. Clark, Charles H. Utermehle, and other well-known citizens.

After the new members had signed the Constitution, Mr. Thomas B. Florence said he noticed in the hall one of the greatest champions of Constitutional liberty in the Senate of the United States. A man who did not fear upon all occasions to express his sentiments. [Applause.] He referred to the honorable Senator from Delaware, Mr. Saulsbury. Loud cheers were given for Mr. Saulsbury, and after the applause had subsided he took the stand, and started out by saying that he could not address the assembly as his "fellowcitizens," for this is a day when a white man has no rights in this District-all is reserved for the nigger, and by saying fellow-citizens it would be implying the nigger was such also. But he could address them as "gentlemen," a title which this Administration could not take away from them. [Applause.]

The speaker then proceeded to quote from Milton's "Paradise Lost," and said, unlike one of that author's heroes, his (Saulsbury's) voice was not for war. [Applause.] It is for peace. [Renewed applause.] The speaker then begged pardon for what he was about to say; but he could not help referring to the time when he at his mother's knee learned the prayer, "Our Father who art in Heaven," and the next thing he learned was the hymn commencing "Twas midnight on Judea's Plain," and from them he learned that there should be "Peace on Earth; good will to man." That is what the Demecrats of the present day believe, and their cry is peace, peace; and they appeal for the cessation of a strife which is striking down brethren in the land. [Applause.] This platform is not popular here, where the corrupt Administration has full sway, [applause,] nor in New York where shoddy and contracts rule. The speaker had but one platform, and that was an immediate and unconditional cessation of this most ungodly war. [Loud applause.] He talked thus plainly because he talked to men who had a deep interest in this country, and he would have them know his true sentiments. [Applause.] The Democratic party never was, and never can be anything but a Union party, and because it is a Union party it is a peace

The speaker then proceeded to tell how the country had been built up, and claimed all the honor for the democracy, which he said had · raised the torchlight of liberty upon every mountain top," and kept it brightly burning. But in an evil hour, after our country had grown mighty, the public brain became crazed, certain politicians desired power and their minions desired contracts; and a corrupt party came into power, [applause,] and the consequence is brother has raised his hand a ainst brother: and now, when 1,000 of our brethren are dying or being killed daily, a man sits joking at the other end of the avenue, and rules this mighty nation-a man who never had the first instinct of statesmanship. [Loud ap-

The speaker said he had opposed secession and disunion because it would bring ruin and desolation upon this happy land, and would bring mourning to otherwise happy homes. But when it was said let us go to fighting to keep this Union together, he was opposed to it. [Applause.] The Union cannot be restored. and the Constitution cannot be preserved by war. [Applause.] Let the Democracy of the country therefore now raise the standard of opposition, and cry aloud "Peace!" "Peace! e Peace!" [Tremendous applause.] If anyone thought the Constitution could be preserved by a vigorous war, that one had read the Constitution and understood it in a different manner than the speaker did. He did not believe any such thing could be accomplished. and therefore he counselled peace. [Renewed Applause.] Mr. Thos. B. Florence then took the floor, and said the meeting had been called for the purpose mainly of considering the expediency of sending delegates to Chicago. It was now too late to proceed to the election of delegates. and he hoped that by the next meeting others would imitate the example of those now present and come up to the good work. It was therefore advisable to adjourn, because at a subsequent meeting there would be more present to participate in the delegate election. There was no necessity for a hurried election, for it was very possible the convention would be postponed beyond the 4th of July. At least if the convention did meet it would most likely adjourn and postpone the nomination. He had heard that the Democratic members of the House and Senate had a project in view to use all means to unite all the elements of opposition against this corrupt crowd at the other end of the avenue, [applause,] and it did not matter what a man's political antecedents had been; and if the convention were postponed the Democracy-no, the Conservative men-might unite upon some one who could unite not only the Democratic-no, the Conservative-interest but all the elements of the opposition. [Applause.] Besides, a postpone-ment of the nomination until September would be beneficial in more ways than one. He be-lieved the contest ought to be short, sharp, decisive and successful, [applause,] and if the members of Congress—the Conservative members-did their duty they would at once rec-ommend such a postponement of the Chicago

Tre speaker congratulated the meeting upon such a large attendance of men, who a twelve month ago would not have dared to come up to a meeting like this. He thanked God for that much of emancipation, [applause.] A year a to the sentiments uttered here to-night would have been considered treasonable and subjected the author to igrominious imprisonment; b t thank God we have a prece lent for it in the action of one who was formerly an acknowledged powerful champion of the party now in power; [applause] who has in a letter recently written, said what nofman of the Democratic Conservative party would have dared say. He (the speaker) hoped this letter as a precedent would loose the tongues and pens of those here-tofore bound by tyranny. [Loud applause.] The man he referred to had been a bright and shining light in the now dominant party; but thank God he had seen the error of his ways and turned from his false Gods, [applause, The speaker said he referred to John C. Fremont, [Long and vociferous applause.] Mr. Florence concluded by saying that he endorsed all that Senator Saulsbury had said and was in favor of peace, and hoped the meeting would also endorse the sentiments uttered. Loud applause.]

Mr. John H. Ballman was elected janitor of the hall, which was ordered to be kept open each night from 8 to 10 o'clock, and the meeting after the transaction of some routine business adjourned.

The proceedings were altogether of a very queer and fishy character, the copperhead sentiments of Senator Saulsbury, and the enthustastic endorsement of Fremont, by another speaker, being received with equal applause. The indications of the meeting point to the formation of a ticket with Fremont for the Presidency, and Saulsbury for Vice President.

Testimonials.

From the Rev. Fred. S. Jewell, Professor of State Normal School, Albany, N. Y. This may certify that I have been, since 1844, subject to violent periodical attacks of catarrh, marked by a highly inflamed condition of the lining membranes of the cavities of the head, producing a most distressing species of head-ache for days at a time, wholly incapacitating me from business, and during the paroxysms confining me to the bed. In some instances the infiammation has extended to the teeth, occasioning toothache; to the threat, producing hoarseness and partial loss of voice; and and twice it has so affected the left eye as to confine me for a month or more to a darkened room. These attacks have been accompanied by strong februe symptoms; by stoppage of the head, and, in the first stages, by watery discharges from the nose, subsequently becoming acrid and yellow, and towards the close of the attack becoming bloody and purulent. I have tried medicines of almost every kind; external applications to the head, such as camphor, ginger, hot bandages, and fomentations of hot vinegar; snuffs of some half a dozen kinds, and other catarrhal preparations, together with internal remedies, such as alteratives, cathartics and emetics. These have produced no change in the occurrence or character of the disease, and, in most cases, with little or no temporary relief. I had come, at length, to believe the disease to be practically beyond either cure or material alleviation.

Under these circumstances I was led some five months ago, to make a trial of Dr. Lighthill's treatment. His method at once approved itself to my judgment, as simple, philosophical, and likely to be effective. Notwithstanding the disadvantages under which he labored. in dealing with a disease of such long standing, aggravated by nervous debility and dyspepsia, and constantly induced by the accidents of my professional labor, I found the treatment reaching the disease as it had never been reached before, and producing such a modification and alleviation of its character as I had supposed impossible. I chronicle the results thus. Although I have been situated several times, so that I should formerly have believed a severe attack of my catarrh inevitable, I have escaped thus far; the symptoms of threatened attack have been very light, and have yielded to the remedies employed by Dr. Lighthill, without need of recourse to the old hot fermentations, or emetics; and the discharges from the head have resumed the original and natural condition. I count upon a complete cure. That I have been able, however, to obtain so material a relief is to me a cause of gratitude. In that alone, I am repaid for whatever the treatment may have cost me.

I make this statement unsolicited, as a means of acknowledging my obligations to Dr. Lighthill's method of treating catarrh, and with a view to aid any who may have suffered from that disease, in forming a just opinion of its merits, and its probable utility in their own FREDR. S. JEWELL, Prof. State Normal School.

Albany, N. Y., March 14, 1561.

Catarrh Cured.

From Rev. R. P. Russell, Lynn, Mass. I have been much troubled with Catarrh of the worst type for some twenty years. It gradually grew worse, producing cough and hoarseness, destroying the sense of smell, and breaking down my general health to such a degree as to compel me to resign my pastorate, and suspend public speaking.

I made diligent use of the useful remedies such as snuffs of different kinds, nitrate of silver, tar water, olive tar, and inhalations, but without any salutary effects. Last summer I heard of Dr. Lighthill's successful mode of treating catarrh, visited him, and put myself under his treatment. I began immediate 1, to improve, and this improvement has gone on to the present time. My catarrh has gradually melted away, my cough has disappeared, my voice has become natural, and I am once more able to preach the blessed Gospel. Let me advise all troubled with catarrhal difficulties to apply to Dr. Lighthill.
